About the Work

Mo-Li-Hua is a popular Chinese folksong created during the Qianlong Emperor period of the Qing Dynasty (18th century). There are several regional variations of the song, with the more well-known versions being from the Jiangsu Province and the other from Zhejiang Province. Both of these versions have different lyrics and melody, as is common in the folksong tradition. Mo-Li-Hua became one of the first Chinese folk songs to become widely known outside China. Throughout its history, the song has been used as a national anthem, for the olympics, and has been adapted by various artists across the world.

Jasmine Flower

What a beautiful jasmine flower
What a beautiful jasmine flower
Sweet-smelling, beautiful, stems full of buds
Fragrant and white, everyone praises
Let me pluck you down
Give to someone else
Jasmine flower, oh jasmine flower

About the Composer

Hyo-won Woo, who is one of the leading composers in Korea, strives to present a new musical vision through choral music. After graduating from Sungshin Women’s University, Ms. Woo started her musical career as a resident composer of the Seoul Ladies’ Singers in 1995. She has worked with the artistic director, Dr Hak-won Yoon, for ten years, experimenting with various musical styles. Their partnership produced remarkable growth of choral music in Korea.

Since 1999, Ms. Woo has served as a full-time composer for the Incheon City Chorale and has established her reputation as a specialist of choral music that shows new compositional techniques. Her creative activity in the Incheon City Chorale made an important contribution to the development of choral music in Korea. Her compositions have been performed internationally. Currently, she is teaching at Seoul Theological Seminary.
